Volunteer Student Director

Health Zone Nurse Practitioner-Led Clinic

Board of Directors

Health Zone Nurse Practitioner Led Clinic (NPLC) is seeking a student studying medicine and/or public health policy to join our volunteer Board of Directors as an ex-officio member. Serving on the board will provide a unique opportunity for a student to understand how a not-for-profit health care board functions and will provide exposure to being part of an Ontario Health Team.

Health Zone is a dynamic, inter-professional health care team delivering high quality, equity-oriented health care to people who face barriers to health and social care. Located in London, Ontario, and established in 2011. Health Zone provides comprehensive primary health care to a growing and diverse population. Our primary mandate is to serve women, children, and individuals/families living in marginalized conditions and/or through transitions, including newcomers. We do our work building on strong relationships with community partners and guided by a set of values that emphasize responsiveness to community, innovation, teamwork and evidence-based practice. We provide both clinic-based and outreach services and programs, in London, Ontario.

If you have a strong health equity and systems transformation lens, we welcome you to apply for this student volunteer position. Our board meets the 2nd Tuesday of each month starting at 5:30pm.

A one-year commitment is expected, with opportunity to extend if desired.

Questions about this posting can be directed to Board Chair, at HealthZoneNPLC230@gmail.com. Interested candidates should submit a covering letter and resume care of the Health Zone NPLC HR committee at HealthZoneNPLC230@gmail.com.
